

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

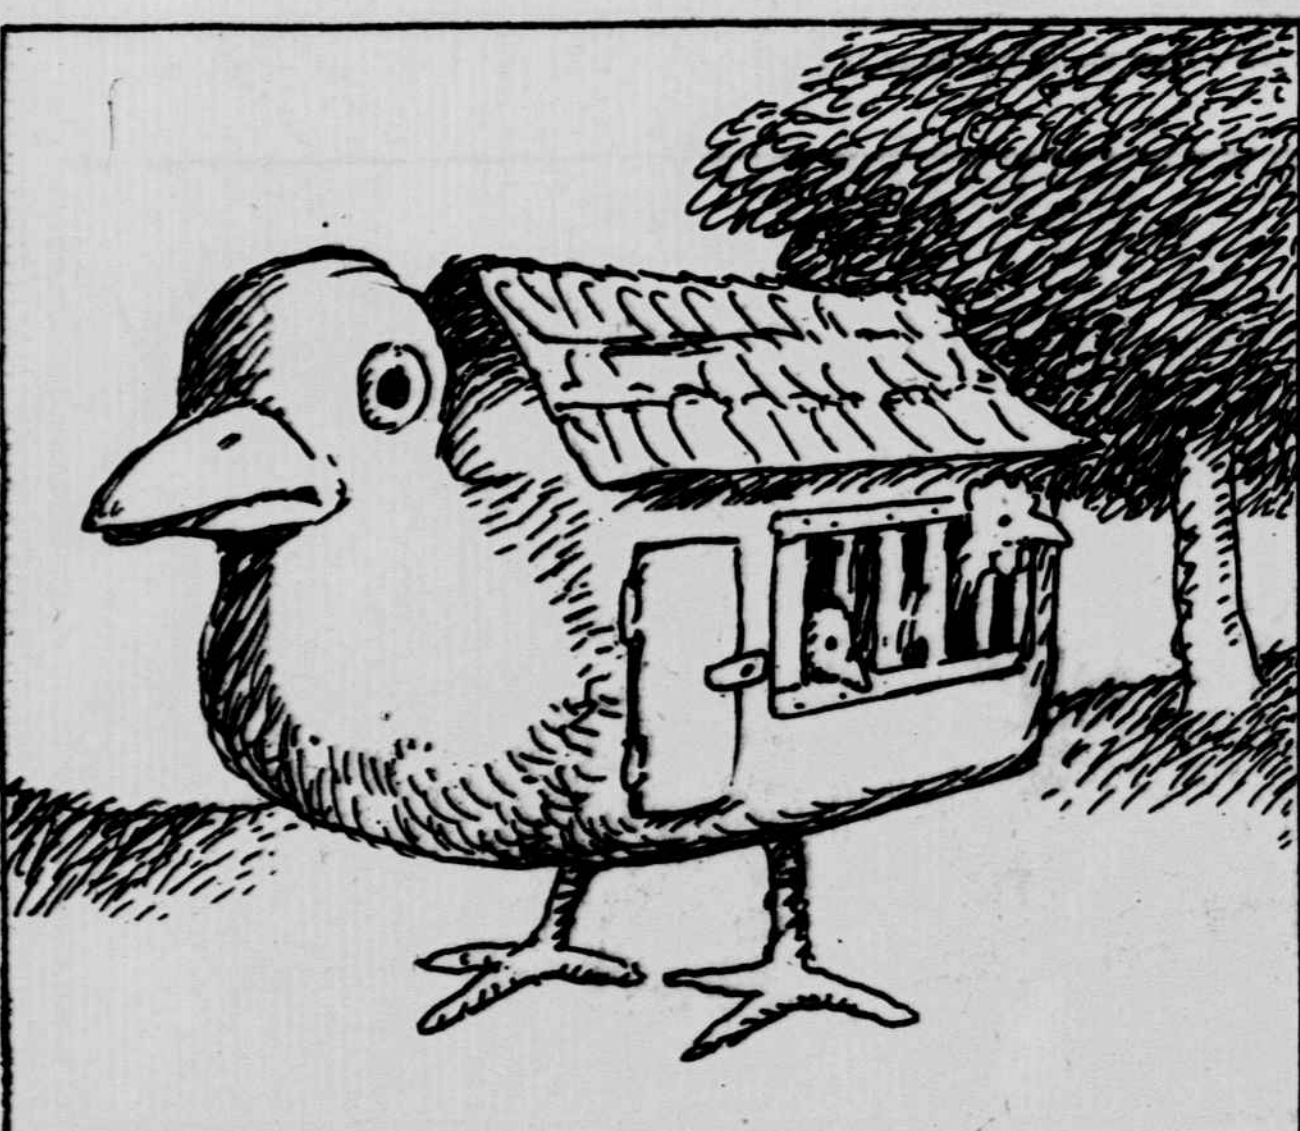

1—The Tiny Tads are eating something soft and very sweet, Canougat it is called, and they would much prefer some meat.

2—"Oh, see the Pigpenguin," they cry, "he's comely and he's big! And if we overtake him, we shall have some roasted pig."

3—But though they run like anything, they cannot catch the bird. This makes them feel quite sad until another sound is heard.

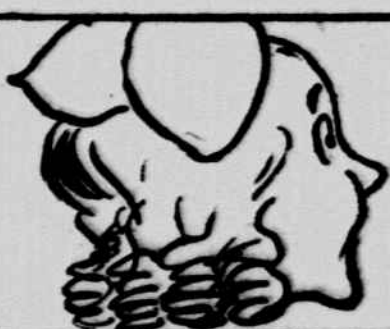

4—It sounds just like a cuckoo clock, and looking round a tree, A Cuckoop that is full of lovely hens and cocks they see.

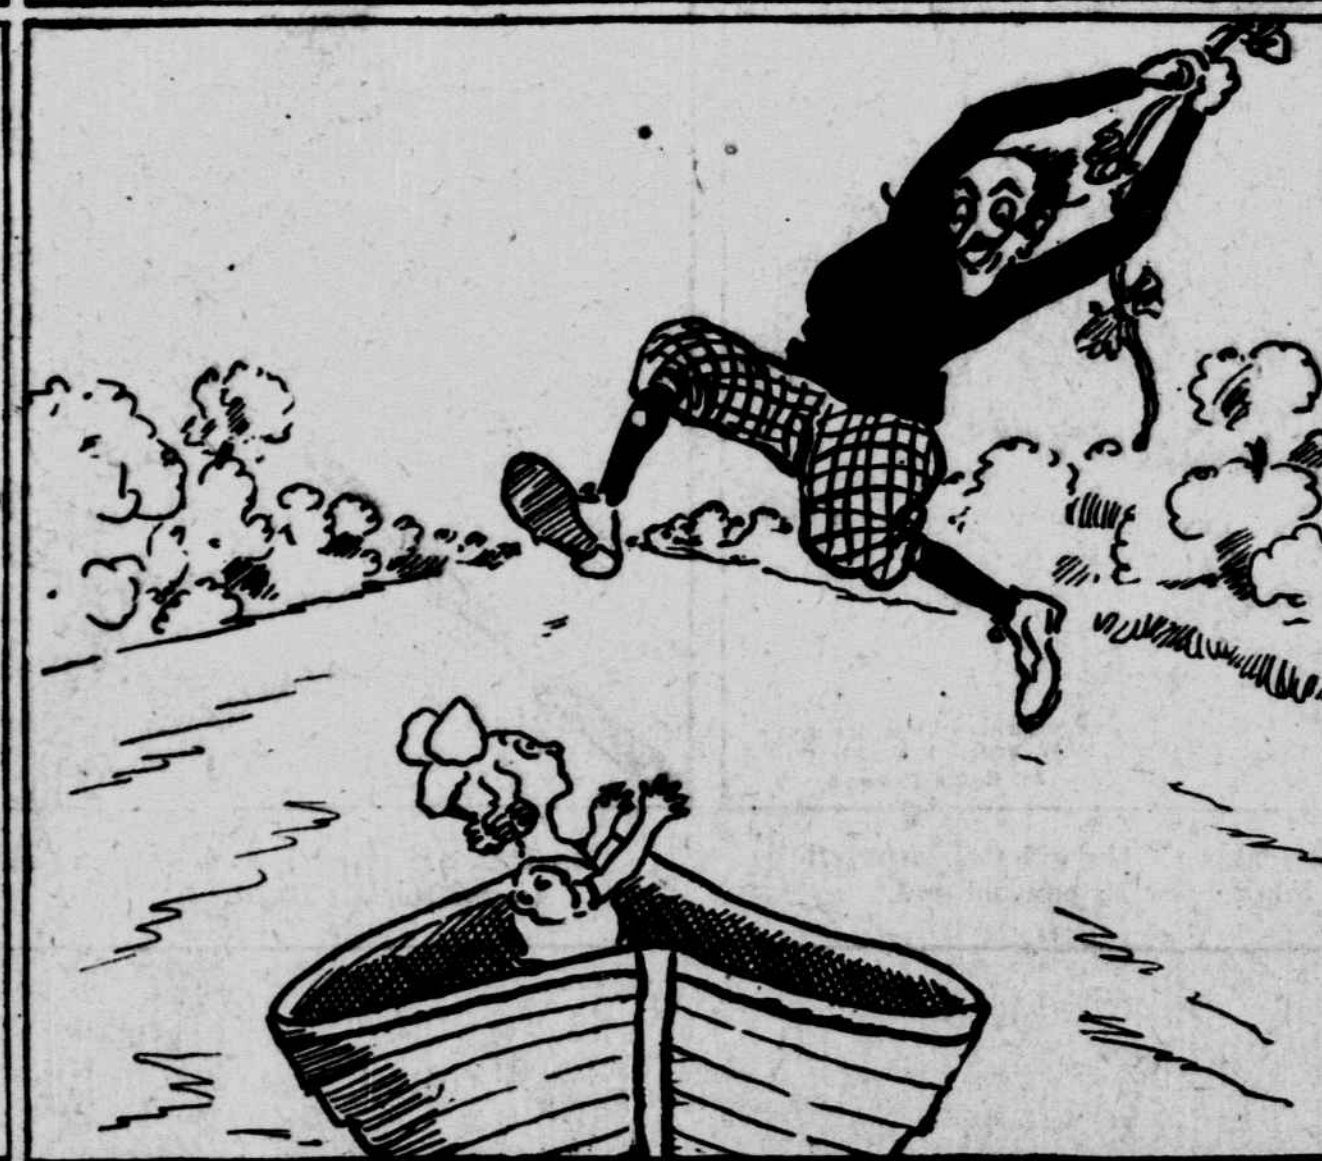

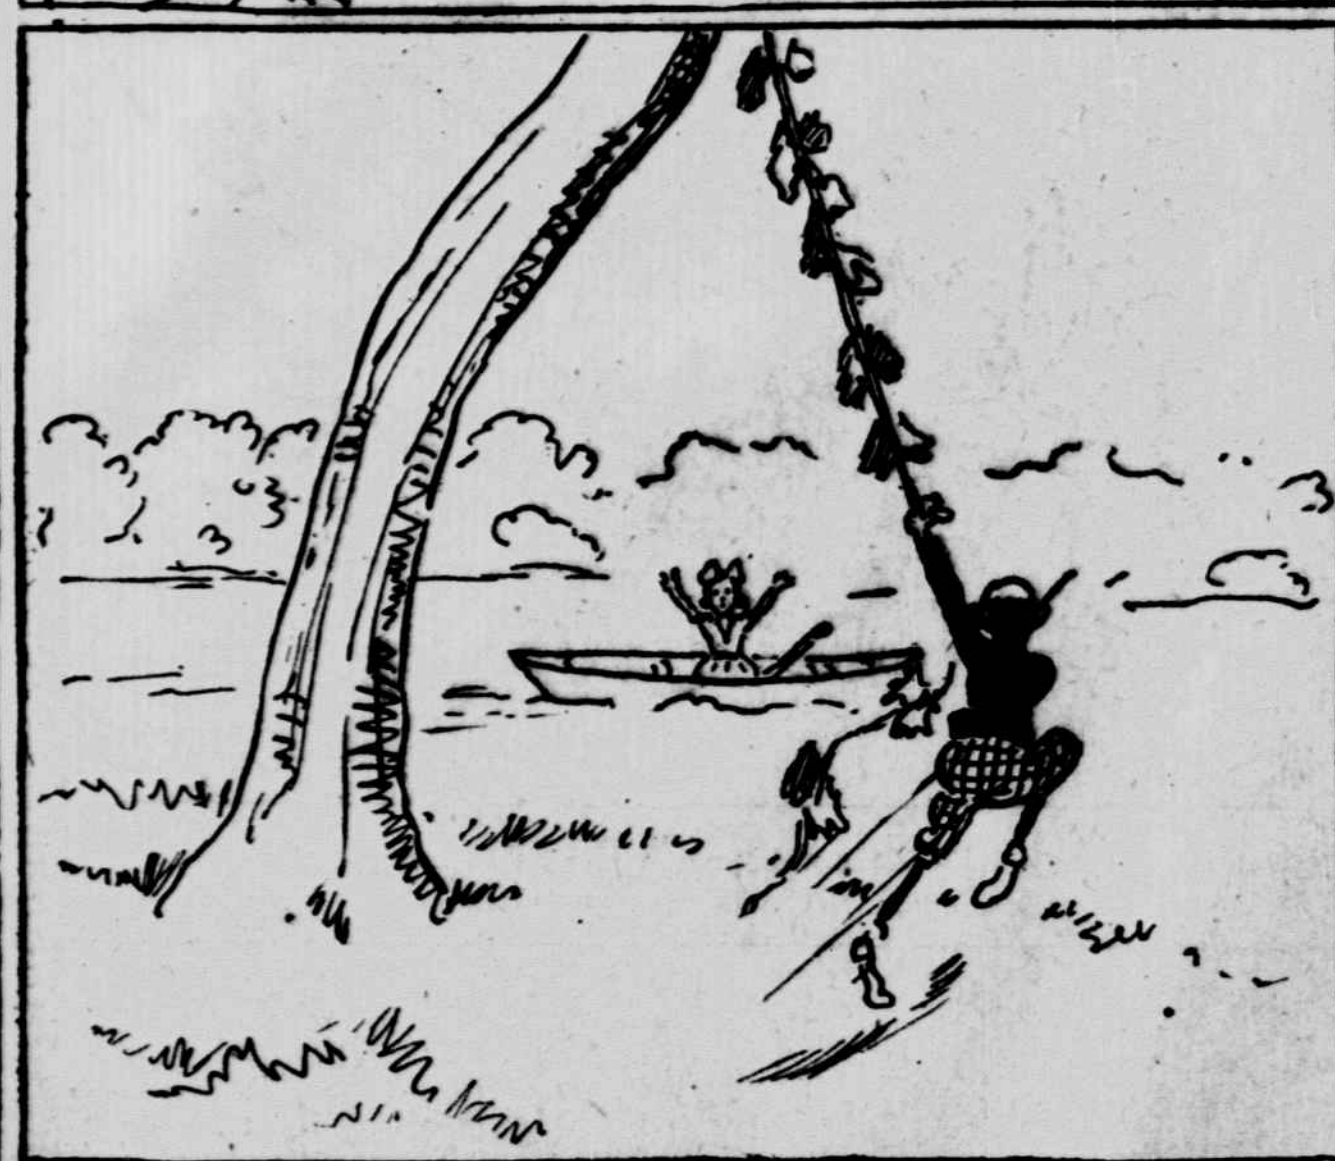

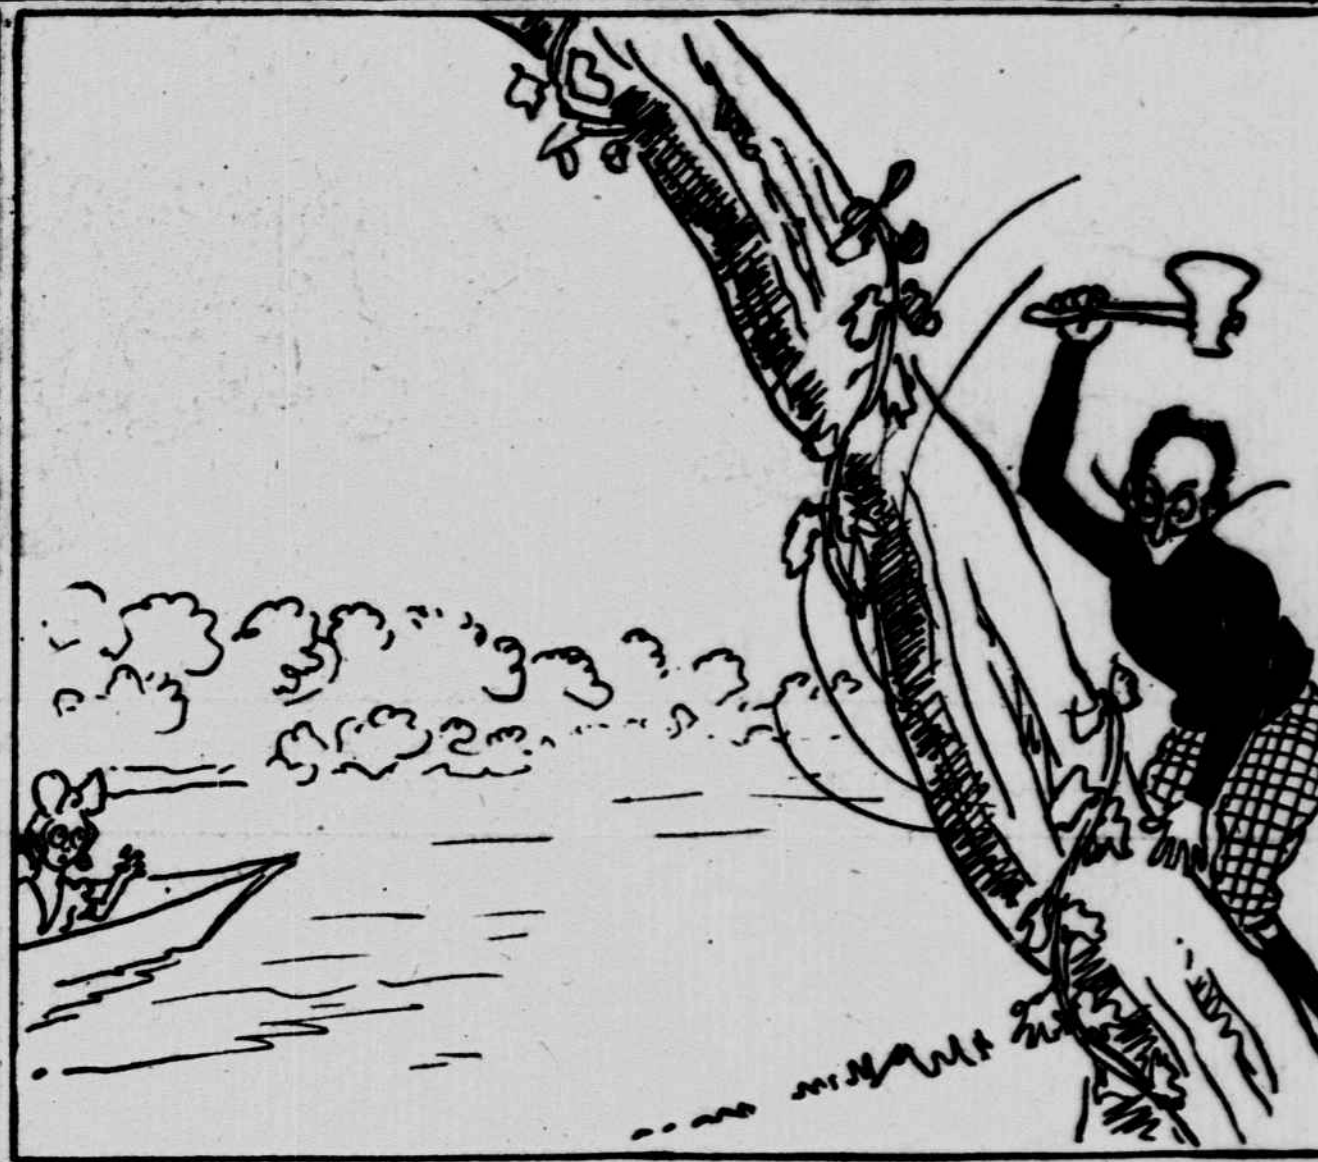

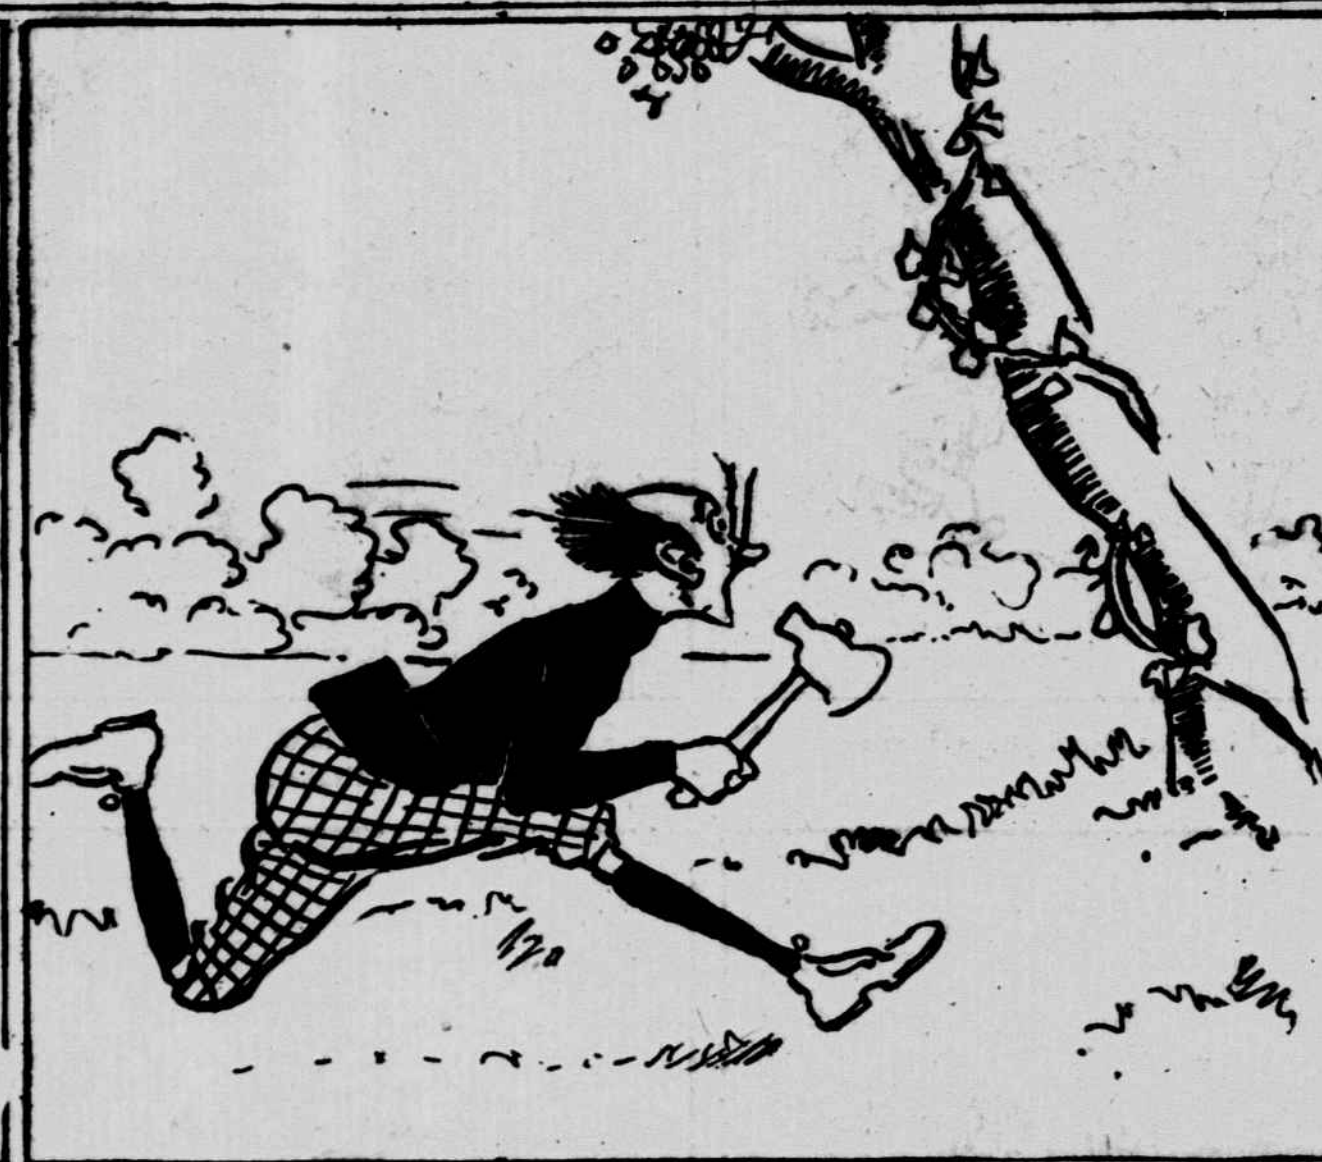

5—He lets them take a rooster, and they're very glad, because This meat is better for them than the sweet Canougat was.

6—"Say, fellows," says a Tiny Tad, when they are resting, later, "Let's go and look for cattle in some big Corraligator."
